Yellow warning
Wind

Between 12:00 Sun 20 Feb 2022 and
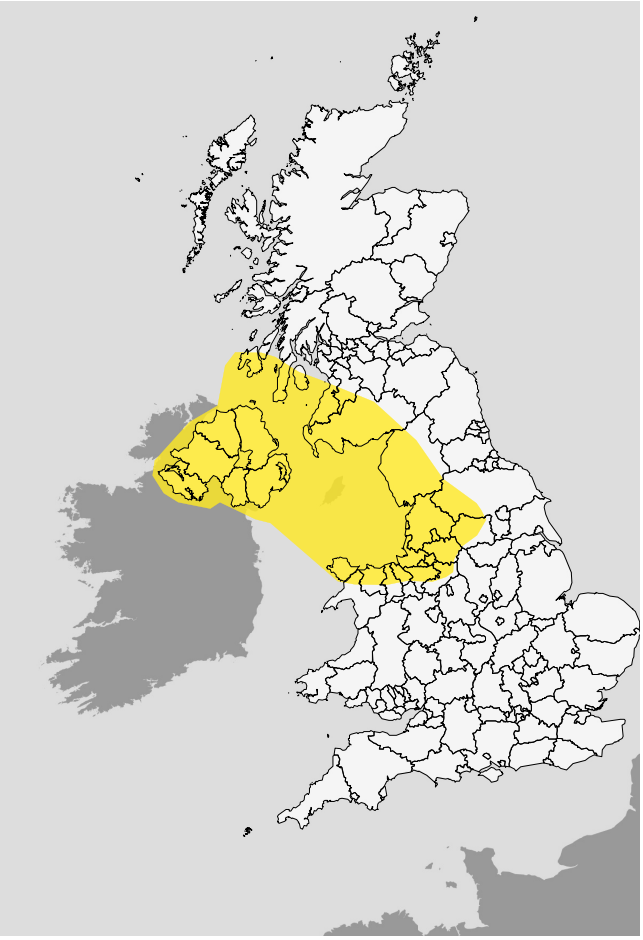
12:00 Mon 21 Feb 2022



Very strong winds may cause disruption across Northern Ireland, southwest Scotland and Irish Sea coasts, particularly on Sunday night.

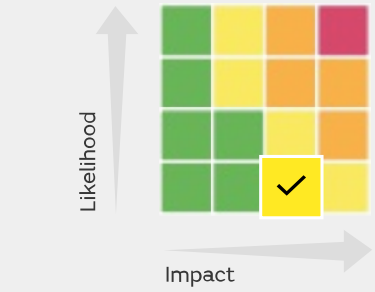
What to expect

- There is a slight chance of some damage to buildings, such as tiles blown from roofs
- There is a small chance that injuries and danger to life could occur from large waves and beach material being thrown onto sea fronts, coastal roads and properties
- There is a chance of longer journey times or cancellations as road, rail, air and ferry services are affected
- There is a slight chance that power cuts may occur, with the potential to affect other services, such as mobile phone coverage

Further details

Strong winds are expected to develop during Sunday afternoon across Northern Ireland and southwest Scotland, extending into parts of northwest England and north Wales during the evening, with inland areas likely to see gusts of 50-60 mph and up to 70 mph on exposed coasts and hills.

However, a swathe of very strong winds is possible for a time overnight Sunday into Monday morning, bringing a chance of inland gusts of 60-70 mph and 80 mph on exposed coasts and hills.



Very low likelihood of medium impacts
